Americans on Admiralty Island Repel Jap Attack

MacArthur Sees
Troops in Action

By ROBERT EUNSON

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS,
SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Thursday,
March 2. (P)—Troops holding Mormo airfield on Los Negros Island in the Admiralty group repulsed a Japanese counterattack yesterday, less than twenty-four hours after the Americans' surprise landing on the island.

General Douglas MacArthur, who personally directed the invasion, said in his communiqué today the enemy's counterattack in the rain-soaked jungle was "bloodily repulsed" and that landing troops of the dismounted first cavalry division had "successfully consolidated" their position.

Sharp Enemy Attack

"There are a few details available, but apparently the enemy attack was pretty sharp," said a headquarters spokesman.

He said that approaches to the 5,000-foot long strip were on favorable terrain but very narrow, forcing the enemy to concentrate his counterattacking force along a narrow front.

The Japanese attacked about 4
a. m. but were driven off before daylight. Nearly 100 enemy dead were counted.

The communiqué said that American losses "throughout these operations have been negligible." The invaders went ashore Tuesday from destroyers without interference from Japanese planes or air-craft and wiped out Japanese resistance to take possession of the airfield.

Airfield Little Damaged

MacArthur said the airfield, which was taken with little damage, "will shortly be in full use by our air forces."

The Japanese could be reinforcing their Los Negros garrison from Manus Island, across a narrow strip of water to the west. Size of the force on Manus was not precisely known.

bers and Mitchell mediums are supporting the ground forces by hammering enemy positions behind their lines.

Soldier's Big Hug
Cracks Mother's Ribs

LYNN, Mass., March 1. (P)—Corporal Norman Leblanc, radio operator on an army plane transport, was so glad to see his mother after sixteen months in the South Pacific that he cracked two of her ribs.

The fracture came when he gave his mother that great big hug all servicemen's mothers wait for when their boys come home.

New Wood Bombers
Carry 2,000 Pounds

LONDON, Thursday, March 2. (P)—
The 400-M. P. H. all-wood Mosquito fighter-bomber which kept the sirens whining and the bombs crashing in Germany between the big raids can carry a bomb load of 2,000 pounds, it was permitted to be disclosed today.

On the basis of previously-announced statistics about bombardiers, this is roughly two-thirds of the load of R.A.F. and American heavy bombers on the average operation.

Higher Pensions
Bill Signed

WASHINGTON, March 1. (P)—
President Roosevelt signed today a legislation increasing from $60 to $75 a month pensions of veterans of the war with Spain, the Philippine Insurrection and the China Relief Expedition.

The measure provides pensions for veterans sixty-five or older, and those totally disabled.

Warning to Finland:

"Peace-Now-Or-Else" Is Demanded

By Britain in Support of Russia

STOCKHOLM, Thursday, March 2. (P)—Important Finnish newspapers attacked Moscow's proffered peace terms to day and declared them unacceptable.

By ALEX H. SINGLETON

LONDON, March 1. (P)—The Finnish people were informed in a Helsinki communiqué tonight of Russia's "peace-now-or-else" armistice terms, which were disclosed to have been endorsed by Britain. Hope persisted that the little Axis satellite would accept the terms and get out of the war.

The Finnish radio outlined the six points of the Russian proposal broadcast last night from Moscow, and said the terms had been transmitted to Parliament. It was emphasized, however, that no negotiations were in progress.

Veterans Visit Lewis:

Soldiers Lecture Labor Leader
About Strikes, Hardships of War

WASHINGTON, March 1. (P)—Two youths who said they were veterans of the Italian campaign paid a visit to John L. Lewis today, and gave him a half-hour lecture about strikes at home and the hardships of servicemen abroad.

The young men gave the names of Corporal Henry Kania of Schenectady, N. Y., and Private Jacob Ricotta of Rochester, N. Y.

Adams said one of the youths waved his arms and wept several times during the interview. Adams said no blows were struck or attempted, however.

Lewis showed himself to reporters, told of going without food for twenty-four hours in a foxhole in Italy.

The meeting, Adams said, took place in Lewis's sixth floor office in the UMW building, to which the UMW official said he and Lewis replied with "facts and figures."

Plan To Limit
Assembly Work

New Bomb Attack
Seems Probable

By GLADWIN HILL

LONDON, Thursday, March 2. (P)—Reports of a plan to limit Maryland's special General Assembly session to consideration of the soldier vote and teacher bonus proposals were given credence today by Truman B. Cash, who said he believed only critical subjects should be considered.

An increase in the striking power of American Marauder medium bombers was disclosed yesterday in monthly review by United States headquarters and the air ministry.

During February 3,200 tons of bombs were dropped in 2,000 individual plane attacks made as part of twenty operations, providing an average bomb load of 1.6 tons for each plane. This is half again as large as the mediums were averaging a few months ago.

One explanation for the increase in the average tonnage is the great number of attacks made on the Northern French coast, since the short flights across the channel permit heavier loading.

It also was announced that the bombing of Nazi air bases Feb. 25 by the United States Ninth Air Force involved the largest force of medium bombers ever sent from England.

The actual size was not disclosed, but it must have been more than 25 planes, a figure announced for a previous raid. The targets for the record attack were St. Trond in Belgium and Venlo in Holland.

Thirty Marauders were lost in February—nine to anti-aircraft gun fire and four to enemy fighters.

British Mosquito bombers attacked points in Western Germany Tuesday night and returned without loss. The Western European air front was quiet today.

Cash, State Democratic Central Committee Chairman, also said the Democratic caucuses for both Houses would be held at 6 p. m. Monday, two hours before the time fixed by Governor O'Connor for convening the special session. The Republican Chairman Galen Tait said the Republican minorities probably would caucus at the same time.

The Maryland Democratic party leader made his comment about the consideration of only critical subjects by the legislature during an appearance before the state legislative council meeting in Baltimore.

The governor, in issuing the call for a special session, could not under the Maryland constitution limit consideration to any particular subjects.

Soon after O'Connor announced the date of convening, however, political observers predicted the overwhelming Democratic majority in the legislature would reach "gentlemen's agreement" to act only upon the two matters mentioned by the governor.

The same sources suggested that an incentive for restricting subjects to be placed before the legislature was the fact that the members will be working on their own time and with no extra compensation.

For previous special sessions, they have been paid $5 a day, but now are on salary and receive only mileage checks in addition to the regular payment.

Nazi Flag Sent

NEW YORK, March 1. (P)—A Nazi flag captured in north Africa was started on its way back to Germany today. It is expected to arrive with the rest of the German forces.

26,000 Germans
Slain by Yugoslavs

NEW YORK, March 1. (P)—The Moscow home radio said today that Yugoslav Patriot activity under Field Marshall Josip Broz (Tito) had cost the German army 43,000 men during the winter campaign of December and January.

The broadcast, quoting the Russian army newspaper Red Star, said the German losses included 26,000 officers and men killed.

More Canned Salmon

WASHINGTON, March 1. (P)—Civilians will get about 577,000 cans of higher-quality salmon, pilchards, Atlantic sea herring, Atlantic mackerel and Pacific mack- erel from this year's production than they did from last year's under a government allocation order issued today.

There was no positive clue here to Finland's reaction, but the atmosphere generally was optimistic despite apprehensions expressed in dispatches from Stockholm. Some speculation developed on the possibility that Finland might offer counter-terms and that she might ask for British-American guarantees.

1,200,000 Men
Needed by July,
Hershey Asserts

General Reveals
New Draft Plans

BILOXI, MASS., March 1. (P)—Brig. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, selective service chief, told the Biloxi Lions Club today that 1,200,000 additional selectees will be taken into the armed forces between now and July 1.

Of 5,000,000 men now deferred from military duty, 1,600,000 are in agriculture and 3,200,000 in industrial defense work, he said, and of the 2,600,000 men now classified as 3-A 860,000 will go into 1-A.

Of this number Hershey said about 250,000 soldiers will be secured and the balance will be placed in 2-A, 2-B, 2-C and 3-C.

Hershey added that of the 1,500,000 men in 1-A 420,000 of them will be soldiers and the balance of the quotas will come from the 18-year-olds "of whom 50,000 to 60,000 a month reach draft age each month."

He said that this war has taken three times as many men as World War I, and that the army had rejected more men than the entire number which served in World War No. 1. "We have put into service nearly 12,000,000 men and have discharged 1,200,000," he said, "and our responsibility includes seeing that discharged men get work, and to co-operate with the employment service in this respect. The discharge rate of 100,000 a month, but when the rate becomes higher we will have a more serious problem."

Cash, State Democratic Central Committee Chairman, also said the Democratic caucuses for both Houses would be held at 6 p. m. Monday, two hours before the time fixed by Governor O'Connor for convening the special session.

The governor, in issuing the call for a special session, could not under the Maryland constitution limit consideration to any particular subjects.

In a statement issued by affiliated stations of the company, in which he outlined the postwar policy of NBC as continuation of active development in this new broadcasting field to make it "a major service of the twentieth century," he disclosed plans which would make such an accomplishment possible.

Trammell appended a letter from the American Telephone and Telegraph Company which said tentative plans had been effected whereby coaxial cables totaling six or seven thousand miles would be constructed within the next five or six years. This cable would enable the linking together of television stations much the same as sound broadcasting is done today.

The letter gave approximate dates when it was thought construction could be completed. Already there is such a line between New York and Philadelphia. This would be extended to Washington by 1945, with Boston, Chicago, Charlotte, Los Angeles and other cities added by 1946; a southern trans-continent route set up by 1947, and more complete national circuits in operation by 1950.

NEW YORK, March 1. (P)—Television broadcasting by coast to coast network facilities as soon as after the war as is physically possible was envisioned today by Niles Trammell, president of the National Broadcasting Company.

Russians Cross
Narova River

Cut Only Escape
Line from Town

By TOM YARBROUGH

LONDON, Thursday, March 2. (P)

Moscow announced today that the Red army in Estonia had punched a bridgehead across the Narova river south of the German-held fortress of Narva and cut the only escape railway from the town while farther south other Soviet troops, on the approaches to Pskov, captured seventy localities and cut the Pskov-Idritsa-Polotsk railway.

In White Russia Soviet forces were reported on the move again near the long dormant front of Vitebsk, capturing more than thirty populated places including Skulovichi, nine miles east of the German bastion.

The Moscow communiqué and its midnight supplement, recorded by the Soviet monitor from a broadcast, said the Russians "several days ago" crossed the Narova along a twenty-two-mile front and penetrated nine miles beyond. German resistance was powerful but Soviet infantry and artillery were declared to have smashed through and reached the rail station of Auvere, cutting the railway between Narva and Reval, capital of Estonia.

In a statement issued by affiliated stations of the company, in which he outlined the postwar policy of NBC as continuation of active development in this new broadcasting field to make it "a major service of the twentieth century," he disclosed plans which would make such an accomplishment possible.

CIO COUNCIL ASKS REPEAL OF STATE DECLARATIONS ACT

WASHINGTON, Mar. 1 (AP) — The Maryland-District of Columbia Industrial Union Council requested Maryland congressmen Tuesday to urge repeal of the State's Declaration of Intentions Voting act at the Maryland General Assembly.

Thousands of workers who have migrated to Maryland for war work are being deprived of their right to vote, Sidney R. Katz, secretary treasurer of the CIO organization, told the Free State senators and representatives.

"Had these thousands of workers migrated to any other state in the union they would have been permitted to vote after one year's residence," Katz stated.

Enactment of a federal ballot soldier vote bill, repeal of poll taxes and enactment of women's equal rights legislation also were urged by the delegation of twenty-old union members.

The union group stated it "supported with wholehearted enthusiasm the vigorous veto of the 'help the greedy' tax bill which President Roosevelt reflected the wishes of the people of our country."

In regard to the delegation's expressed desire for repeal of the Declarations of Intentions act, Rep. J. Glenn Beall (R-6th Md.) said that he was happy to see that Katz and he were "seeing eye to eye on at least one subject." Beall at times has been the object of CIO criticism.

CIO Lauds Roosevelt For Tax Bill Veto

Describing the tax bill which the nation's chief executive has just vetoed as "one of the worst ever to emerge from the legislative hopper," the executive board of the Western Maryland Industrial Union Council-CIO in a letter to President Franklin D. Roosevelt Tuesday expresses renewed confidence in the latter's leadership and ability to lead the way in the present and postwar period.

In denouncing the legislation, the board sets forth that the bill continues the outrageous tax exemption of income from governmental securities, continues the special privilege of separate tax returns which aids the families with large incomes, and continues the scandalous provision which allows owners of oil and mining properties to make exorbitant deductions for so-called percentage depletion.

"Congress has thus rejected one of the five points cited by you in your recent message," the letter continues. "It has put no adequate curb on profiteering which continues to flourish unchecked."

More than 22,000,000 of Britain's 33,000,000 persons between the ages of 14 and 64 are in the armed services or essential production.

There were 81,000,000 head of cattle on American farms at the beginning of this year.

Suit for Damages Is Filed over Fatal Injury of Bicyclist

Suit for damages by titling was filed Tuesday in circuit court by Nettie Bonner, administratrix of the estate of Guy N. Orndorff, against James Marshall Harding, Westerport. Amount of the damages sought was not disclosed.

Orndorff, 17, Twenty-first Bridge died in Potomac Valley hospital, Keyser, W. Va., September 1, 1943, from injuries suffered early that morning when the bicycle he was riding was struck by an automobile on Burke hill, near McCole.

Harding, who police at the time said was the driver of the car that struck the youth, subsequently was found guilty on a charge of reckless driving and sentenced to six months in the county jail by Magistrate Frank A. Perdew. Harding appealed to circuit court but a decision has not yet been handed down.

No Decision Is Reached On Textile Wage Boost

Since no agreement has been reached, wage increases proposed by Local 1874, Textile Workers of America, for the 9,000 odd members of the union employed at the Amcelle plant of the Celanese Corporation of America, the case will be certified to the War Labor Board, a union spokesman announced yesterday.

Wesley Cook, New York assistant director of the Textile division of the union, headed union officials at the second meeting with company officials held yesterday morning at the Celanese plant, when the case was discussed with Commissioner Holden of the United States Conciliation Department.

The Only Way To End Our Legislative Jams

THE BALTIMORE SUN is quite right in declaring that the "best method of curing the local bill problem at the sessions of the General Assembly is to reduce the volume of such legislation by having each of the twenty-three counties and 127 incorporated towns enact their own local laws," and that "other proposals which presumably are addressed to the problem do not go to the heart of the trouble."

But the Sun doesn't tell how to get at "the heart of the trouble." It says the proposal of Senator James J. Lindsay to expedite the introduction of local bills by advancing the date beyond which such measures cannot be presented without a suspension of the rules is dubious, and it is right about that. It notes a subsequent movement of a small group of legislators to implement that proposal by adoption of an agreement to vote down motions to suspend the rules, but says that, while it might be helpful, it still would not solve the problem, wherein it is equally correct.

The Sun seems to think that continuation of such meetings as that held recently by Governor O'Conor with the boards of county commissioners on the teacher bonus problem, plus gubernatorial leadership, might turn the trick. But that is mere wishful thinking, as it would not touch the heart of the problem.

The legislative jam problem will never be solved in this state until it is done by constitutional amendment, long urged by this newspaper, prescribing that no local or special law incorporating local governments or amending their charters shall be passed by the legislature but that all such work shall be done under general laws enacted for the purpose by the legislature.

The strength of that proposition lies in the facts that it is simple and that it works, as has been demonstrated in other states. Other proposed cures are weak and insufficient for the reason that no legislature can tie either its own hands or the hands of a subsequent legislature, while organic law can do so until such time, at least, as the people take action by altering it.

The Strongest Argument Against the Fourth Term

WHAT this newspaper has said with regard to the need for cooperation between Congress and the executive and the chances of obtaining it after the election this fall is echoed by Frank R. Kent in his Baltimore Sun column in the course of a discussion of the tax bill veto message sent Congress by President Roosevelt, which Kent, as have so many others, terms a major mistake.

"Probably the most pregnant thing," Kent writes, "is the convincing demonstration that Mr. Roosevelt has completely lost control of Congress—lost control of Congress in which his own party has a majority—lost control of his own selected leaders; lost it publicly and humiliatingly."

"With the trend strongly toward a Republican House, it seems impossible now to believe that should Mr. Roosevelt be re-elected he would have a Congress he could lead, boss or cajole. If he cannot do it with this Congress, he certainly will not be able to do it with the next. And that, of course, means governmental paralysis. It is the strongest argument against the fourth term."

It is, indeed.

The Momentous Question Of Men's Shirtsails

SENATOR BURNET R. MAYBANK, of South Carolina, has brought the shirttail question out for an airing in Congress. Shirtsails, as many an uncomfortable citizen will testify without urging, have been out for some time.

Senator Maybank apparently has been one of that fortunate group of gentlemen who had a supply of shirts on hand and has only recently found it necessary to purchase new ones. Before making his selection, he had been happily contemplating a cotton surplus in this country. He had been on the verge of suggesting to Congress that wartime restrictions on cotton goods manufacture be relaxed. And then the senator bought his new shirts.

Senator Maybank exploded, not in the privacy of his dressing room, but in the halls of Congress. He introduced a resolution proposing a congressional investigation of the cotton textile industry to embrace "production, consumption, labor problems and, most important, the government's wartime conservation regulations." The senator is quoted as saying that "the tails are so short that you never know whether they're going to be in or out. If you don't keep poking them in, they're usually out."

The less vocal members of society have been poking them in and saying nothing. The senator is thinking probably of a Washington summer when high temperatures will make a coat unbearable, and when an eloquent wave of the arms will be sufficient to pull out the abbreviated fabric.

From the uncomplaining masses a sigh of those goes out to Senator Maybank. He may not succeed in lengthening the offending garment, but his heart, if not his shirttail, is in the right place.

Smoke-Screening By Bureaucrats

A POSSIBLE SHOWDOWN is indicated for another long-smoldering Congress-White House issue by action of a Senate group in ordering a study of law and precedents preliminary to considering contempt proceedings against Jonathan Daniels, one of President Roosevelt's administrative assistants.

The order was issued by the Senate Agriculture subcommittee investigating the Rural Electrification Administration at a hearing of which Daniels refused to answer questions on the ground that his relations with the president were of a "confidential nature" and that his testimony would "not serve the public interest."

Senator Gillette (D-Iowa), one of the group, said he thought a contempt action would be begun and declared that at issue is the question whether Congress can investigate a government agency.

"If witnesses continue to claim that their testimony is incompatible to the public interest," Gillette said, "the thing can be carried to the point where Congress will be unable to investigate a department or agency of the government."

It is high time that this sort of evasion is ended except, of course, when it actually concerns necessary secrecy in military or foreign affairs. The Washington bureaucrats, it seems, always have a screen behind which to hide. In other days it was the emergency resulting from the depression. Then when that excuse became insufficient as the war came on, the war was the excuse. Now when that emergency does not cover, the bureaucrats look to the postwar emergency as an alibi. Much of the hiding is not only unnecessary but damaging to the public welfare, to remedy impairment of which publicity is the best prophylactic.

A Worthy School Leader Retires

RETIREMENT of Arthur Francis Smith as principal of the Central high school at Lonaconing in consequence of ill health after half a century of splendid work is regrettable because, as Charles L. Kopp, county school superintendent, has truly said, Mr. Smith's worth has been outstanding in this state and his contribution to the education program in this county noteworthy. Not only will the school system miss his administrative ability and his wise counsel therein, but school patrons generally will feel that they have incurred a loss as well.

Arthur Francis Smith worked diligently and thoroughly and well for the best of educational ideals as developed through time and experience. He brought Central high at Lonaconing into note both for the excellent preparation of its students and by the repeated national honors attained through publication of its most excellent school paper, the Orange and Black, the training in its journalism classes having been particularly dear to him.

While regretting this man's retirement after such a splendid career, the people of Allegany generally will wish him speedy recovery in the rest of retirement which his faithful and productive labors have so richly deserved.

A Florida man committed suicide because he owed $7.50 in income tax. It wasn't the amount, it was the principle of the thing.

Swing to Congress Will Likely Go On, Mark Sullivan Says

BY MARK SULLIVAN

The most general feeling in Washington about the break between President Roosevelt and Democratic Senate Leader Barkley dwells on the regrettable aspects of it, coming at this time. In time of war, it is a break between the executive and legislative branches of government. In time of war it is a break in the party that is in control of the government. In the minds of our allies, it tends to create uneasiness lest there be a lack of unity in the American government as respects relations with them.

This uneasiness is probably unnecessary. The fact is there is exceptional solidarity of the American government as respects our relations with our allies and the world. Proof of this is plain on the record. What the record shows is that the American secretary of state, Mr. Cordell Hull, went to Moscow, conferred there with the heads of foreign relations of Russia and Britain, agreed upon a statement of principles with respect to a post-war international organization—and this agreement was endorsed by the Senate by the remarkable vote of 85 to 5. That is the formal record up to date. There is nothing in the Roosevelt-Barkley break that necessarily threatens this unity of the American government as respects foreign relations.

More than Weariness

Nevertheless the break is regrettable. Because it is regrettable, the common tendency is to minimize it as much as possible. It is said that in part the incident was due to the fatigue and strain that bears upon everybody. This is true. It can be remedied. If men recognize that they are weary, and that weariness begets susceptibility to temperamental explosion and faulty judgment—if this is brought home to men, they can remedy the condition by deliberate exercise of self restraint.

Yet the fact remains that this breach is deep-rooted in past events and conditions. Over a period of ten years the pendulum of power had swung far away from the legislative branch of government, and in the direction of the executive. The swing back was bound to come, was called for by change in public opinion and in the attitude of the country as expressed in elections. To recognize that the swing back is irresistible is a first step in having it take place without unnecessary commotion.

Big Majority Given

When President Roosevelt was elected, there was selected with him a large majority for his party in the House of Representatives—313 to 117. In the succeeding congressional election, 1934, the majority was increased—322 to 103. In the succeeding election, 1936, of president and Congress together, the majority of the president's party went to a size unprecedented in history—333 to eighty-nine. And in the same election, Mr. Roosevelt got a similarly unprecedented majority—carried forty-six out of the forty-eight states.

Swing Interrupted by War

Rejection of the court measure was the first step by Congress to ward off resumption of its legislative function. The swing of the pendulum of power back to Congress was encouraged and facilitated by the succeeding congressional election, in 1938, when the president's party in the House was markedly reduced, from 322 to 262. That the swing should continue was normal and foreordained. But it was interrupted by the coming of war, which made it desirable that Congress should have a new step in having it take place without unnecessary commotion.

Any ordinary man in the present break, and what makes it unfortunate, is that it comes when the country is at war. The swing back to Congress is bound to go on.

Recognition of this would help to make the transition less disturbing. The recognition is especially incumbent upon the president, his aides, and executive agencies.

Need of Brains at Washington Is Seen As Prompting Big Government Revision

BY PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, March 1.—It is very probable that Mr. Roosevelt will revise his government immediately for victory and the fourth term campaign.

Now, as never before, he needs brains in the top places. With the chaotic condition of the world, with our ability to survive questioned on every front—financial, diplomatic, economic, military—the best politics and simplest sense demands the best manpower in government as well as in the army, factories, and field.

Paul Mallon You cannot win without power at top. Yet Mr. Roosevelt's own senate leader has now publicly proclaimed what everyone else knew, namely that the cabinet and presidential advisers fall far short of representing the best intelligence and experience of the country.

In the beginning, to satisfy this deficiency, Mr. Roosevelt brought in the Byrnes, Baruch, Vinson, Jones set-up as a super cabinet. As Senator Barkley noted, this has not been enough.

Some of the powers thus delegated have been used in ways that Congress did not contemplate and now disapproves. Resentment of this by Congress led to resumption in Congress of the tendency to bring the pendulum of power back to that body. All that is novel in the present break, and what makes it unfortunate, is that it comes when the country is at war. The swing back to Congress is bound to go on.

Recognition of this would help to make the transition less disturbing. The recognition is especially incumbent upon the president, his aides, and executive agencies.

Anonymous news has been appearing in the papers suggesting a few cabinet changes are under consideration. The question is whether they will go far and deep enough.

Edward R. Stettinius, the state under-secretary, is receiving some mention as possible vice presidential nominee instead of the left-leaning Wallace. This talk originated with no more inferior an authority than Democratic National Chairman Hannagan.

Mr. Stettinius has an ex-big business background in Morgan business not unlike that of Mr. Willkie. Certainly Stettinius is being groomed to succeed Mr. Hull, when and if.

Foreign Economic Administrator Crowley has also mounted the boggan and a successor is needed for him.

A sounding-out rumor has been in plentiful quantities in West Virginia.

Congress has taken no definite action on the request, as yet, but some favorable consideration may be pending, as an intensive effort is now being made to find new ways of insuring the nation's petroleum supply in the postwar era. Harold Ickes has said flatly that "the United States cannot oil another war."

In an effort to eliminate the necessity for sending American-produced oil to other parts of the world, the government has made plans for laying a 1,000-mile pipeline across Saudi Arabia to move oil

Kirke L. Simpson Says:MacArthur's Admiralty Landings Show He's on Way to Philippines*By KIRKE L. SIMPSON

Associated Press War Analyst
There was warrant for the exultation at note in General MacArthur's communiqué announcing the Admiralty island landings to snap but his long-planned Bismarck archipelago trap on scores of thousands of isolated Japanese troops.

As he stepped ashore to survey almost undamaged Momote airfield on Negros, MacArthur could reflect that he was on the way back to the Philippines. He has a solemn pledge to return.

The southeastern tip of Mindanao is 1,000 miles to the northwest.

Southern Gate Opened

The Bismarck sea southern post in the Philippines and the South China Sea, is definitely broken through, unhinging the whole southern flank of the Japanese Pacific defense front. Critical enemy communication lines far to the west in the Celebes sea, even in the July archipelago that separates the Philippines and Borneo, were in range of United States bombers and submarines.

Implicit in every move against Japan is the primary strategic concept that shipping is the Nipponese Achilles heel. Cargo ships are still more vital to them than the lives of their troops. And a shipping paralysis already is creeping over their merchant fleet. With the Bismarck archipelago mopped up—and will be—American bombers and submarines are drawing dangerously close to enemy life lines in the South China Sea itself. The whole Japanese war effort is dependent upon the two-way movement of shipping up and down that sea. There is evidence that American air power in China is being expanded to raid that shipping. To match it from the east, American advances for bombers and submarines are being pushed ahead in the southwest and central Pacific.

Large Area Covered

Strike a 1,500 mile radius half circle from the Admiralties—and it has short cruising range for submarines—and it covers the whole area from north of the Marianas, along the east coast of Mindanao down to the south shore of the Celebes sea. Enemy surface craft nowhere in that wide sweep can move except in deadly danger from American planes and submarines based in the Admiralties.

DPA Never Spurns

Help from Cities

The mayor and city council yesterday received a letter from the Western Maryland Industrial Union council (CIO), denying that DPA does not want assistance of municipalities in enforcing price ceilings, as concluded by the mayor and council at its meeting Monday.

"Your letter of yesterday reconfirms your reason for not enacting an ordinance for enforcement of DPA regulations," the union council's letter read, "seems to us like a clear evasion of your responsibilities."

"The press release which you sent out obviously refers to an entirely different class of problems from what we have in mind, namely the problem of what happens when the DPA sets ceilings on the price of one service furnished by a municipality."

"You will recall that the draft of an ordinance which was sent out by the Labor Unity Conference allowed exactly the wording of the model ordinance sent out by the national DPA itself."

"In order for this question to be settled to the satisfaction of all, may we make the suggestion that you write to Mr. Chester Bowles and ask him whether he favors the enactment of an ordinance such as we have recommended. For ourselves, we are willing to abide by its decision."

"It seems to us that you owe it to the voters of Cumberland to at least state your reasons for declining to act on this obviously beneficial measure."

The letter is signed by Ralph C. Card, president of the CIO council.

anese merchant shipping has been heavy. It is estimated at not much less than half the total pre-war tonnage. American submarines have raided into Japan's own home waters at extreme long range to bring down their prey. With newly-won bases, submarine ravages must rise. Their number is increasing, the distance to their targets is going down. In addition there is every indication of impending British action in the area of the Bay of Bengal. The day when Japan must resort to convoys in the China sea itself to guard her troop carriers and cargo ships, further weakening her fleet strength, may not be far distant.

Unemployment Benefits Increase for January

Benefits received by Maryland's unemployed took a jump in January, the total payments by the Maryland Unemployment Compensation Board reaching $70,868, the increase over December being nearly twenty per cent. The increase is attributed chiefly to year-end layoffs. An increase was similarly recorded a year ago.

Contributions collected by the board for the four quarters of 1943 climbed to $26,452,157, the reserve fund at the end of January totaling $88,343,618, to meet the heavy demands from the unemployed that the war's termination may bring.

Total collections by the board at the end of January were $121,833,017, which the United States Treasury added $4,186,306 as interest in Maryland's deposits in that institution.

The aggregate of unemployment benefits paid by Maryland at the end of January was $32,255,000.

Sites Pays Fine On Traffic ChargeLocal Negro Is Acquitted of Charge of Taking Motor Vehicle

Charged with reckless driving, Paul Derwood Sites, 18, of Hinkie road, was fined $10 and costs by Magistrate Frank A. Perdew after a hearing in trial magistrates court yesterday.

Sites was arrested November 16 by Trooper Joseph White after his car collided with a pickup truck driven by Harvey Flake, 63, of 320 Williams road, on Route 40 three miles east of this city.

Flake, who suffered severe left arm injuries in the collision, was discharged from Allegany hospital only a week ago.

Edward J. Ryan, attorney for Sites, indicated that an appeal would be filed.

Flake, also charged with careless driving, was acquitted by Magistrate Perdew.

Negro Is Acquitted

Percy H. Edmundson, negro, 528 Greene street, was acquitted of a charge of unlawfully taking a motor vehicle at a hearing yesterday before Magistrate Liver H. Bruce, Jr.

Edmundson, who was defended by Thomas Lohr Richards, said he borrowed the car from Sam Waingold, proprietor of the Square Deal Motor Company to attend a funeral and when he did not return promptly to the parking lot, Waingold swore out a warrant for his arrest.

The aggregate of unemployment benefits paid by Maryland at the end of January was $32,255,000.

Teachers of Allegany County Will Continue To Receive $300 Bonus

Allegany county teachers will continue to receive a yearly bonus of $300 even though the special session of the Maryland General Assembly called for Monday, fails to approve legislation providing for a salary bonus for teachers.

An act of the last regular session of the legislature provided for local teachers in event the state bonus was not continued, it was recalled yesterday by Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of schools, and Charles M. See, chairman of the Allegany county delegation.

The state now pays $200 a year and Allegany county pays $100. The local bill provides for the payment of the full $300 by the county for a year in event the state does not act. The bill also increases the base pay of teachers by $120 starting in the 1945-1946 school year, boosting the starting wage from $1,200 to $1,320.

Governor O'Conor has proposed the bonus of $200 be continued with the state paying two-thirds and the counties one-third.

Chairman See favors the state paying the full bonus of $200.

Camera Club Members Will Hear Lecture

A brief prepared by the chamber of commerce giving reasons why the Transcontinental Western Airline should be granted permission to operate through Cumberland will soon be submitted to the Civil Aeronautics Board.

The brief was prepared by Harold W. Smith, secretary of the chamber. A hearing date for the Cumberland case will be set by the civil aeronautics body.

"Your letter of yesterday reconfirms your reason for not enacting an ordinance for enforcement of DPA regulations," the union council's letter read, "seems to us like a clear evasion of your responsibilities."

"The press release which you sent out obviously refers to an entirely different class of problems from what we have in mind, namely the problem of what happens when the DPA sets ceilings on the price of one service furnished by a municipality."

"You will recall that the draft of an ordinance which was sent out by the Labor Unity Conference allowed exactly the wording of the model ordinance sent out by the national DPA itself."

"In order for this question to be settled to the satisfaction of all, may we make the suggestion that you write to Mr. Chester Bowles and ask him whether he favors the enactment of an ordinance such as we have recommended. For ourselves, we are willing to abide by its decision."

"It seems to us that you owe it to the voters of Cumberland to at least state your reasons for declining to act on this obviously beneficial measure."

The letter is signed by Ralph C. Card, president of the CIO council.

Book Awarded Contract to Remodel Store Front

John S. Cook has been awarded a contract for remodeling the front of the store at 57 Baltimore street, according to a building permit issued yesterday by the city engineer of the James Clark estate. A glass door will be installed.

CHURCH RAISES FUNDS BY GIVING BUFFALO NICKEL SOCIAL

The buffalo nickel social climaxing the campaign to raise funds to paint the Sunday school room of Zion Reformed and Evangelical church was held Tuesday evening at the church social hall with Charles W. Robinette, superintendent of the Sunday school, in charge and conducting the devotional service. The campaign which was inaugurated by the late pastor, the Rev. Fred M. E. Grove, netted $190. The social was originally scheduled for October 5

Marking the twenty-fifth anniversary of the Catholic Students Mission Crusade, which is being observed this year, a review of the work of the crusade was given at the assembly at St. Mary's high school yesterday. The part the crusaders have taken in the world-wide mission work of the Catholic church was stressed; as well as the present aims and works. Recognition was also paid to the founder, Father Clifford J. King, who is interned in the Philippines.

Twenty-five years ago, Father King, then a student for the priesthood at the Seminary of the Divine Fathers, at Techney, Ill., realizing that the mission fields were far too vast for the numbers of workers then in the field, decided, with the permission of his superiors, to make American youth aware of the missions. Therefore, in July 1918, he called a meeting of priests and students and organized the crusaders. The program was chosen to include prayer, study and sacrifice; with the entire world for its field; and its motto, "The Sacred Heart for the World, the World for the Sacred Heart."

Two years later Father Frank Augustine Thill, who is now Bishop of Concordia, Kans., started the "Shield," official magazine of the crusaders, to provide information on missionary questions, to serve as a medium for the guidance of leaders of units and local conferences, and to serve as official spokesman of the national organization.

To stress the educational program of the crusaders the "Paladin Round Table," plan for the study of the mission fields was begun in 1923. This study club, which has kept pace with mission developments, is today one of the principal educational activities of the crusade.

In 1923 the permanent headquarters for the organization was established by the Rev. Peter E. Dietz, in Cincinnati, O. The crusade was made a Pontifical society through the official sanction of Pope Pius XI, in 1925; and became an auxiliary to the Society for the Propagation of the Faith. At the suggestion of Msgr. Louis C. Vaeth, Baltimore, director of the local units, the Clerical Conference of the Catholic Students Mission Crusade of the Catholic University of America, was founded. The outstanding achievement of the conference has been sponsoring the annual oratory contest and the yearly observance of the Church

Be Quick To Treat Bronchitis

Chronic bronchitis may develop if your cough, chest cold, or acute bronchitis is not treated and you cannot afford to take a chance with any medicine less potent than Creomulsion which goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden mucus from and aid in cure to the end and help under-inflamed bronchial mucous membranes.

Creomulsion blends beeswax creosote by special process with other time tested medicines for coughs. It contains no narcotics.

No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with confidence. You will find on the way it quickly eases the cough, permitting rest and sleep, or you are to have your money back. (Adv.)

At Parsons, W. Va.

PARSONS, Mar. 1—Mr. and Mrs. Cal Johnson, Hendricks, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Mary Johnson, to Sgt. Charles L. Riley, Camp Mackall, N. C., son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Riley, Tunnelton.

The single ring services were performed at the home of the bride's parents Saturday, February 25, with the Rev. Frank A. Johnson, pastor of the Parsons First Street Methodist church officiating, in the presence of the immediate families and a few close friends.

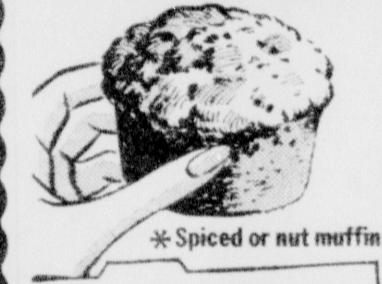

To be married the bride chose a street length dress of navy blue with white and black accessories and a corsage of sweet peas. The bride's only attendant was her sister, Mrs. Daisy Williams of Hendricks who wore a street length suit of black with white accessories. Best man was Warren Shaw Wamsley of Hendricks.

The bridegroom will return to his army base on March 9. The bride will remain at her parents home for the present.

Meet in Italy

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Phillips Hendricks, received a letter from their son, Pvt. Stamford Phillips, now stationed with the United States Army in Italy, in which he stated that he had met Capt. Samuel Weisman.

Piedmont Rotarians See Movie Showing Telephone at War

By DAISY BERISFORD

WESTERNPORT, March 1—A motion picture entitled "War and the Telephone" dealing with the achievements of the telephone during the war was shown today by G. E. Fish, manager of the local telephone office at the Piedmont Rotary luncheon.

Racial Tolerance Is Forum Topic

In the opening address to the Community Forum, held Monday at the Trinity Methodist church, Piedmont, the Rev. Ramsay Bridges, pastor of McKenry Methodist church, Cumberland, spoke on "Racial Tolerance in the Postwar World."

He stated that from undemocratic ideas, found within the democracies, as well as within totalitarian ideology; racial antipathy, bigotry, and persecutions will spring unless intolerance be banished from the world.

"So essential is tolerance to mental and moral progress that one must have it before he can go forward," he added. "The fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man is the key to peace," he said.

Red Cross Quota

Piedmont Chapter, American Red Cross, has been assigned a quota of $4,700 in the War Fund campaign, which opens March 1 with an national objective of $200,000,000. Chairman Raymond Hudson announces. This is $2,000 more than Piedmont chapter was asked to raise last year.

Judge Robert McVeigh Drane will be chairman of the drive.

Wallace Reid, assistant director, said that during 1943 juveniles were responsible for thirty-four per cent of all burglaries solved by the police; fifteen per cent of the robbery cases and seventeen per cent of the larceny cases involving sums larger than $49."

The assistant director declared that some portion of last year's increase could be attributed to a tightening up in policing, saying the percentage of arrests to crimes increased slightly.

However, the figures definitely disclose a marked rise in juvenile participation in major crimes. We are not dealing with childish pranks. This is a fact which cannot be emphasized too much," Reid continued.

From where I sit...

by Joe Marsh

Lem Martin's dog went on a rampage last week... killed four chickens.

Naturally Ed was pretty mad. Went around vowing he was going to get his shotgun and blow the blazes out of Lem's dog when he saw him. And Lem says, "Let him try it and I'll blow the blazes out of him. Ought to keep his chickens locked up, anyhow."

But Ed and Lem are really mighty sensible fellows. And the whole thing was settled when Lem invited Ed over for a glass of beer, and they sat around chatting over the quarrel as if it were a kind of joke.

"Shucks," says Ed, "them hens didn't amount to much now."

And Lem says, "Just the same I'm bringin' you a barrel o' apples to pay for 'em."

From where I sit, it would be a lot better for the world if folks would settle their arguments peaceful-like—sitting around over a friendly glass of beer—instead of going off half-cocked, and making mountains out of molehills.

Philadelphia Road Is Named 'Pulaski Highway'

ANNAPOLIS, Md., March 1 (UPI)—The Philadelphia road (U.S. Route 40) has been designated the "Pulaski Highway" by the state roads commission in memory of General Casimir Pulaski, Polish patriot who aided the colonies during the American revolution.

The new designation for the highway had been requested in a House resolution, passed by the 1943 General Assembly and Governor O'Connor said today that the Federal Public Roads Administration had been advised of the state's action.

O'Connor said that "it is especially appropriate" that Maryland pay special honor to General Pulaski, "who gave his life for the cause of American independence in 1779."

Pulaski set up headquarters in Baltimore to form a body of troops known as "Pulaski Legion," O'Connor said, adding that the general had made the "supreme sacrifice at the siege of Savannah, where his Legion's banner was saved by Capt. Bentall of Baltimore."

The governor said the naming of the "Pulaski Highway" would be Maryland's recognition of "the lasting contribution made to the progress of our state by x x x citizens of Polish birth and descent, and in keeping with the desire that this great patriot of their race be honored in a permanent manner."

Parsons Tourney Opens Tonight; Keyser Event Starts Tomorrow

Winning Teams Qualify for Regional Play; Romney Defeats Piedmont 34-19

A dozen nearby West Virginia scholastic aggregations will open sectional tournament play when the Section 15 event gets under way at Parsons tonight and the Section 14 carnival is launched tomorrow evening at Keyser.

Six of the seven teams entered in the Parsons tourney will be in action this evening while three contests tomorrow will open the Keyser event. The winners of these two tournaments and victors in similar playoffs at Martinsburg and Kingwood will compete for regional honors at Keyser next week. The Martinsburg and Kingwood tourneys started last night.

At Parsons, Petersburg High's Vikings and Franklin will clash in the opener at 7 o'clock tonight. Franklin, which holds 38-24 and 54-19 decisions over the Vikings, will be favored to emerge with a victory and meet Thomas, which drew a bye, in the semi-finals tomorrow night.

Moorefield, Parsons Favored

Moorefield's Yellow Jackets will tangle with the Davis High Wildcats at 8 o'clock and the Parsons High Panthers will meet Circleville at 9 o'clock to complete the first round. The Jackets and Wildcats and Panthers and Circleville did not meet during the regular season, but on the basis of comparative records, Moorefield and Parsons are favored.

Thomas will oppose the Petersburg-Franklin winner and the survivors of the Moorefield-Davis and Parsons-Circleville contests will meet in the semi-finals tomorrow. The third-place game and title battle are billed for Saturday night at 7 and 8 o'clock, respectively.

The Keyser sectional will get underway tomorrow night with Keyser High's Golden Tornado opposing Elk Garden at 7 o'clock. Ridgeley meets Fort Ashby at 8 and Romney tangles with Capon Bridge at 9. Piedmont drew a bye and will take on the Romney-Capon Bridge victor Saturday afternoon when the semi-finals will be played.

LaSalle, AHS Meet Tomorrow

Keyser and Elk Garden did not meet during the regular campaigns but the Golden Tornado is one-sided favorite. Ridgeley and Fort Ashby split in two previous meetings, the Blackhawks winning 34-15 and then bowing 30-28. Romney holds a pair of decisions over Capon Bridge, 33-13 and 41-27.

To the only other district games this week, the LaSalle High Explorers and Allegany High Campers will clash at Campobello tomorrow night and Central high, of Lonaconing, will oppose Oakland high at Oakland in another battle tomorrow.

Last night, the Romney High Pioneers handed Piedmont a 34-19 drubbing at Romney as Dick Harmonson, who had been ill, entered the game as a substitute and proceeded to spark the winners with fifteen points. The clash brought the regular season to a close for both teams.

Romney, after being held to a 4-4 deadlock in the first quarter, forged to the front in the second period and set the pace thereafter. The count was 15-8 at the half and 24-14 at the end of the third chapter.

Shaughnessy Offered Job as Unofficial Advisor of Redskins

LOS ANGELES, March 1 (AP)—Clark Shaughnessy, head football coach at the University of Pittsburgh, said today he had been asked to serve as an unofficial advisor of the Washington Redskins, professional grid team, but that he would not leave Pitt.

Shaughnessy said he had been giving the Washington offer some consideration, "but only as an advisor, as I have been for years with the Chicago Bears. I positively will not coach the Redskins or any other team except the University of Pittsburgh, where I am well satisfied. I am not shopping around for another job."

Taylor Predicts Outstanding Crop Of Young Players

Browns' Coach Says Man-power Shortage Will Help Youngsters

By WAYNE OLIVER

WINTER PARK, Fla., March 1 (AP)—James Wren (Zack) Taylor, coach and assistant manager of the St. Louis Browns, predicts the baseball manpower shortage will result in the development of an outstanding crop of young players.

Taylor, onetime ace catcher who is beginning his thirtieth year of professional baseball though only 45 years old, explained today that many youngsters who in normal times wouldn't reach the majors for several more years now are being brought in and receive the benefit of better instructions and training care than if they remained in the smaller circuits.

Another School of Thought

"Of course, there's another school of thought on that," continued Taylor.

"Some think it's a mistake to bring them into the big time too soon, that if a youngster gets with a major league club and fails to stick, it breaks his spirit and he may never realize his possibilities."

"However, I don't think that factor counts too much in most cases. I failed to stick when I first came up with Brooklyn and was able to come back and stay in the majors a long time."

"As it is, they're going to have to give a lot of young fellows a chance who wouldn't get it in ordinary times. A lot of them will make good and some of them will be awfully young compared with what we are used to for major league players."

A Native Floridian

Taylor, a native Floridian, has lived here since he was a child except during baseball seasons and invested his diamond earnings here. His holdings include a modern apartment-business building where he and his wife make their home each winter.

After six seasons with Brooklyn, he played for the Boston Braves, New York Giants and Chicago Cubs before going back to the minors for a managerial career that brought him to the majors again.

Fort Hill High Sentinel quint this season, have been nominated to receive the Casey club's annual basketball "sportsmanship award."

The award will be made Sunday evening at the conclusion of the Casey club's fifth annual reunion dinner at the K. of C. home. Alice high's two nominees are Louis Baker and Jim Fradisca while LaSalle high's candidates will be announced later this week.

Squires, captain of the Sentinel quint, played his final game Feb.

11 when Fort Hill opposed La-

Salle and departed the next day to enter the service. He is now an army air cadet at Miami Beach, Fla.

Both Squires and Whiteman gained honors in football both behind backs. Each received all-city honors last fall at the close of the grid campaign. Squires is a son of

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Squires, 506

Montreal avenue, and Whiteman is a son of Mrs. Jessie M. Whiteman, 323 Arch street.

Geary was suspended from organized baseball last year when home-sickness caused him to desert the Buccaneers in mid-season and returned to his home at Buffalo, N. Y.

He also complained that Pittsburgh fans had given him a "personal" raspberry through no fault of his own.

The shortstop sought reinstatement and was granted it last month

by Baseball Czar Kenesaw M. Lan-dus, making him eligible to resume play this year.

On his original hitch with the team, club officials stated, Huck showed up nine days late in July,

1942, and three days afterward said he was sick and went home.

He said he'd send a wire today before he came." Connie said today,

"so I guess we won't see him tomorrow since we got no wire today.

That is, if he meant what he said."

Howie Schultz Again Rejected by Uncle Sam

ST. PAUL, March 1 (AP)—Howie Schultz, towering first baseman purchased by the Brooklyn Dodgers from St. Paul, of the American Association, last summer was rejected for service in the armed forces for the second time yesterday.

Schultz, for whom $40,000 and players were paid by Brooklyn, was chased the first time in October of last year. Schultz, who stands six feet, seven inches tall, was turned down because he exceeds the maximum height standards.

Up and Over Odell

Yale Football Coach Howard Odell was a pole vaulter during his undergraduate days at the University of Pittsburgh in addition to cutting a mean swathe on the gridiron.

Bob Montgomery Meets Beau Jack In 'Rubber' Match

Lightweight Fistic Title Merry-Go-Round Due for Another Whirl

By FRITZ HOWELL

NEW YORK, March 1 (AP)—Half the world's lightweight fistic championship, which has bounced around as erratically as a football since last in '42, gets another kick Friday night.

The newest item in the snarled situation, a fifteen-rounder in Madison Square Garden, brings together Sidney (Beau Jack) Walker, the former Augusta, Ga., bootblack who holds the New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania version of the laurels, and Bob Montgomery, the Philadelphia and Sumter, S. C., lad.

Beau Jack had the title, but Montgomery took it away from him. Then Beau Jack took it back. They've been in there against each other for thirty rounds, with honors even. Customers aggregating 36,209 paid $191,373 to see 'em do it, and Promoter Mike Jacobs says Friday's "rubber" match will draw more than $90,000.

While Monty and Beau have been doing their title-trading, the other half of the championship has been held by Sammy Angott, of Washington, Pa., who has the blessing of the National Boxing Association.

Angott Regains Title

In keeping with the rest of the setup, Angott isn't recognized as champion in his home state of Pennsylvania. Neither Monty nor Beau has been able to win recognition back in the state of his birth—South Carolina and Georgia, respectively.

Here's what caused it all:

Dec. 19, 1941—Angott took title from Lew Jenkins.

Nov. 13, 1942—Angott relinquished title and retired.

Here the NBA and New York-and-affiliated commissions agreed on a tournament to name a new champ. New York finally decided a sixteen-man elimination would be endless and decided to give the nod to the winner of a Larkin-Beau Jack scrap.

Dec. 18, 1942—Beau Jack kayoed Larkin. New Jersey joined New York in recognizing the "Beau-NBA" aghast, refused to go along.

Five months later Angott decided on a comeback, and NBA decided to recognize the winner of his first fight. Angott slugged "Sluggo" White out of there in Jig time in Hollywood, getting NBA crown back. New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania said "no," declaring Beau was the boy.

Winner Meets Angott

May 21, 1943—Montgomery out-pointed Beau Jack in fifteen rounds, winning NY-NJ-Pa title.

March 3, 1944—Beau Jack and Montgomery meet again at fifteen rounds for NY-NJ-Pa title.

March 31, 1944—Angott, with NBA crown, and winner of Beau-Jack-Montgomery third encounter, with NY-NJ-Pa title, meet at fifteen rounds in Garden.

From the latter match will emerge the undisputed and universally approved champion—unless it's a draw. Everyone hopes that Angott, if he wins, won't decide to retire again. The fans can't stand another of those merry-go-rounds.

Max Lanier Signs 1944 Dodger Contract

ST. LOUIS, March 1 (AP)—Max Lanier, St. Louis Cardinal left handed pitcher who won fifteen and lost seven for the National League champions last season, signed up for 1944 today after a short conference with President Sam Breadon.

No details were available except that the contract was for one year.

The 28-year old North Carolinian said he spent the winter farming, hunting and home building and was in good physical condition.

Bobby Doerr Accepts 1944 Red Sox Contract

BOSTON, March 1 (AP)—Bobby Doerr, Red Sox second baseman who last season set new American League baseball record for consecutive chances without an error, today signed his 1944 contract.

The Sox infielder recently was classified 1-A by his draft board.

At the same time, the Red Sox management reported an additional exhibition game during the spring training tour—the Navy at Anapolis on April 3.

SUN AGAIN IS CHOICE FOR WIDENER

Sun Again

Hialeah Park

CLIMATIC EVENT to one of the best Florida racing seasons is up for renewal at Hialeah Park, Saturday, when the $25,000 Widener handicap is run. Sun Again, the Calumet farm performer who has been the standout star in the Florida meeting, is expected to be the heavy favorite. Sun Again was a fine two-year-old and was expected to be a big derby favorite in 1942. But injuries kept him back and it has been only this year, as a five-year-old, that he has come through. Marriage, winner of the Louisiana handicap two weeks ago, is another horse expected to draw a heavy play. Alsab also may be a starter.

W. R. Clauson Dies Suddenly At His Home

Former Cumberland Contractor Had Been Invalided for Twenty Years

William Robert Clauson, 48, 308 Schley street, former Cumberland contractor, died suddenly at his home at 9 o'clock last night. Mr. Clauson had been an invalid for the last twenty years but did not become critically ill until Tuesday night. His death was unexpected.

A native of Cumberland and a descendant of one of this city's old families, Mr. Clauson was a son of Mrs. Margaret Averill Clauson, Cumberland, and the late William Thomas Clauson. His father and his grandfather owned much farming land in this section.

Mr. Clauson served in the First World war after attending Allegany County high school on Greene street and Washington college at Chester-town.

He served with the Eighty-second division for two years and was overseas for eighteen months in the First World war. What was believed to be a minor shrapnel wound eventually caused him to become an invalid and forced him to retire from the contracting business.

When Mr. Clauson returned to this country, he became associated with Deitscher and Company, a contracting firm that completed construction of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company plant after the war.

While he was with this firm he met George F. Hazelwood and in 1921 they formed the contracting business of Clauson and Hazelwood. Because of his ill health Mr. Clauson retired from the business about 1926.

Mr. Clauson was a member of the First Presbyterian church and of Fort Cumberland Post, No. 13, American Legion.

He is survived by his mother, his widow, Mrs. Fannie Stein Clauson; one daughter, Miss Martha Ann Clauson, at home; and three sisters, Misses Mary and Ruth Clauson, Cumberland, and Mrs. Urban Doolittle, Huntingdon, Pa.

The body will remain at the home.

MRS. C. H. POST

Mrs. Alice May Post, 64, wife of Charles Henry Post, 317 Pearl street, died at 3 p.m. yesterday a short time after she was admitted to Memorial hospital.

Mrs. Post was a native of Cum-berland and was a daughter of the late Solomon Hensel and Elizabeth Arnold Hensel. She was a member of the Lutheran church.

Surviving besides her husband is one son by a former marriage, Earl A. Bollinger, Baltimore; two brothers, Walter T. Hensel and George M. Hensel, Cumberland; and two nieces, Mrs. Thomas Mallis, Alexandria, Va.; Mrs. F. D. Keyes, Cumberland; three grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

The body will remain at the home.

MRS. ARTHUR O. DEMOSS

Mrs. Arthur O. DeMoss, Alpine road, Roland park, Baltimore, died suddenly at her home at 10 o'clock yesterday morning.

Mrs. DeMoss was the former Miss Frances Brown, a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Brown of Cumberland. Her father was once a lawyer here.

Surviving Mrs. DeMoss are her husband and one sister, Mrs. Emma E. Chisholm, Cumberland.

Funeral services will be held Saturday in Baltimore with interment in Loudon Park cemetery there.

CLARK RINKER RITES

Services for Clark Decatur Rinker, 209 Fifth street, a retired Baltimore and Ohio railroad engineer, were held at 2 p.m. yesterday at the home with the Rev. George E. Baughman officiating. Interment was in Hillcrest burial park.

Pallbearers were George, John and Leon Edghart, Clark Swartley, Robert Hartman and Charles Cramer.

MISS LUCY CHANDLER RITES

Funeral services for Miss Lucy Chandler, formerly of Narrows Park, who died Monday in Sylvan retreat, were held at 2:30 p.m. yesterday in the Stein funeral home with the Rev. Dr. Walter M. Michael officiating. Interment was in Rose Hill cemetery.

Pallbearers were George Brown, Charles McFerran, Charles Simpson and William Porter.

JOHN SHEETZ RITES

Funeral rites for John Edgar Sheetz, Sr., former resident of Cumberland who died Friday at his home in Baltimore, were held at 2 p.m. yesterday in Calvary Evangelical church, Mary street, with the Rev. J. Edgar Walter in charge. Interment was in Rose Hill cemetery.

Pallbearers, all members of Tonawawa Tribe, No. 120, Improved Order of Redmen, were Paul Bucklew, Roy Bury, Roy Wells, Ewald W. Ruehl, Roy Breighner and Mr. Hess.

Knights of Columbus Will Confer Degree

Cumberland Council No. 586, Knights of Columbus, will confer the first degree on a class of ten candidates at exercises in the K. of C. home, North Mechanic street, this evening at 8 o'clock.

Four grand knights of the council will occupy the chairs on the occasion. Those designated are: F. H. Barley, grand knight; J. Bernard Higgins, deputy grand knight; W. Ambrose Ryland, chancellor; Frank A. Wolfhouse, warden, and Harry I. Stegmaier, organist.

Cumberland Bank Gains 206 Places

Liberty Trust Company Is Now 1,187 Largest in the Nation

NEW YORK, March 1—(Special)—The Liberty Trust Company, of Cumberland, Md., gained 206 places in its standing among the 14,500 banks of the country during 1943 and is now the one thousand one hundred eighty-seventh largest bank in the United States.

This was revealed in the annual roll call of commercial banks as of December 31, 1943, compiled and published by the American Banker, of New York city, the only daily banking newspaper.

During 1943 deposits of the Liberty Trust Company rose from $5,680,227 to $8,673,909, an increase of $3,043,682.

At the close of 1942 the Liberty Trust Company was the one thousand three hundred ninety-third largest bank in the United States.

Bid for Zoning City Is $2,500

Action on Grinnald's Offer Will Be Taken Monday by Council

A bid of $2,500 by Jefferson C. Grinnalds, planning and zoning consultant of Baltimore, to prepare a zoning ordinance for Cumberland, has been tentatively accepted at a meeting of the mayor and city council on the recommendation of the Cumberland Planning and Zoning Commission.

Official acceptance of the bid is expected when the council meets next Monday.

Grinnalds gave an outline of ordinances he drew up for other cities, in a letter to the council and said eight square miles of the city and territory for a mile around the city limits will be inspected and included in the plans.

Commissioner Orr was absent and Commissioner William E. McDonald asked that final action of the council be postponed to give Orr an opportunity to vote.

Charles Z. Heskett, city attorney, said that such an ordinance, if approved, would "get rid of a multitude of headaches facing the city officials."

Commissioner McDonald inquired whether money would be available for this and other items connected with planning and zoning. He also asked if the upkeep of the new airport would be such that an additional burden would be placed upon the taxpayers. Heskett replied that the city will be able to finance the zoning project and added that the airport will be self-supporting at present and maintenance will be small for several years. He said he expected it to be a source of revenue when the large airlines start using it as a stop.

The mayor and council voted to purchase a scale from the tin mill for $450. Commissioner Edgar H. Reynolds said that a similar scale when new costs about $2,000.

17 Board One Men To Enter Service

Nine Selectees To Enter Navy; Officer Brown Is in Army Group

Seventeen registrants of Local Board No. 1, Virginia avenue, will leave here March 13 to begin active training in the army and navy. Nine of the group, which received pre-induction physical examinations in Baltimore February 15, will enter the navy while eight will be inducted into the army, DeLise Chaney, chief clerk, announced yesterday.

The navy group, which will leave Monday morning by bus for the Baltimore navy recruiting station, includes Robert Louis Miller, John Sidney Storer, Alvin M. Ray, Bernard R. Lowery, David R. Ullery, Gilbert H. Kesecker, Herbert P. Myers, Claude A. Luck and Earl R. Nixon.

The army contingent, which is scheduled to leave here Monday afternoon by train for Fort George G. Meade, includes Boyd O. Jewell, William F. Sosby, James W. Brown, city patrolman, Harry M. Whisner, Raymond H. Catlett, Homer E. Schade, Carroll F. Blaubaugh and James F. Divice.

Officer Edwin Liliya made the arrest.

Two Fined for Fishing In Closed Trout Stream

Pleading guilty to the charge of fishing in closed trout waters, Arthur Keedy and Roland Haines, of Frostburg, Tuesday were fined $10 and costs each by Trial Magistrate Charles Edwards in Grantsville, Md.

Joseph A. Minke, regional game warden, said that Keedy and Haines were apprehended while fishing in Piney dam, Garrett county, on Monday, by Francis Ruge of Frostburg district game warden.

The trout season does not open until April 15 and closes July 15.

To Confer with Farmers

William W. Nace, soil conservationist of the Allegany Soil Conservation District, with Ivan McKeever, Upper Darby, Pa., zone technician, left Tuesday for Garrett county to conduct a two-day group of educational meetings.

Seaman Clark is a son of Mrs. Blau Clark, and husband of Myrtle Clark, Corriganville.

Names of men and women serving overseas may be added to the League's list by calling 2216 or writing to 7 Washington street.

Pfc. Oldaker Says Men on Jungle Island Grow 'Cocoanut Happy'

Cumberland Admits Home Is Home, Even if It Is in Chicken Yard

Home is home, even if it is in a chicken yard, writes a Cumberland soldier, who relates that he is so far from civilization that it is as the poem goes—"On a South Sea Island, where the mail is always late, and a Christmas card in April, is considered up to date."

The letter arrived this week from Pfc. Francis Oldaker, of the Headquarters Provisional Island Command, son of John L. Oldaker, Winfield road, who states that he is on a jungle island in the South Pacific where there are so many cocoanuts that the men grow "cocoanut happy" looking at them. "You don't dare sit under one of the trees or you are letting yourself in for a sock on the old bean," Oldaker added.

Expresses Appreciation

"We want you folks back home to know that we appreciate every little comfort that is sent over to us, even though our rations are sometimes scarce. But for the comforts we can assure you a foxhole is sometimes considered comfortable. I can't tell you too much about such things for it wouldn't be Hoyle, but I'll bet you can imagine what it is like."

"Yes, we are so far from civilization that a nurse came here the other day and I just stood staring at her. I'll bet she thought I was wacky. It was like a breath from heaven to even see some one who represented civilization."

Anxious To Come Home

"There is one thing that is uppermost in our minds. That is, when are they going to relieve us; when are we going to be able to see home and loved ones again. Sometimes rumors fly thick and fast but generally they turn out to be just rumors."

"One of the things that we love is to get a home town paper. I got one sometime ago, and I kept it for three weeks. Even though it had been doused in the briny it was good reading, like a breath from home."

"You know there is an old proverb that says, 'You don't miss the water until the well goes dry.' Well that is true in our case, concerning home and all our friends. We love to think of the familiar lights, the bright new signs, the chatter of late theater goers. Those things are all dear to us now."

"Even though we were home we didn't know but a few close friends but now we look on each and everyone of you as friends. All these things are part of us — and always will be. Our only hope and prayer is that some day when we come back we would like to see things as though they had not been touched, that all these things won't be strange to us. If much change has taken place it will be like starting out and striving to again regain the things we once knew."

Things at Home Dearest

"Regardless of all the beautiful places one might have been, those things at home are dearest to all of us. I guess that is why we fight to preserve the established traditions that are so well set in our lives. Yes, home is home, even if it is in a chicken yard."

"Well this ends this little memo of just a soldier boy who is anxiously awaiting the day when he can take up the threads of life he once knew and loved.

"You can put this in the paper if you will and let the folks at home know how much we cherish them."

Pvt. Oldaker's letter was sent to a well known local flower shop and was accompanied by a money order for the purchase of a corsage for his girl friend — "the sweetest little girl in the world."

Two or three members of the committee are expected to make short talks after which the meeting will be turned into an open forum and a number of the club members are expected to participate in the discussion.

Newly enlisted men with Company C are David Cline and James Goss.

Both companies announced that there are several vacancies for men able to qualify for enlistments.

BEAMER IS NAMED STUDENT CAPTAIN

M. Frank Beamer, former Maryland state trooper stationed at Barracks "C", LaVale, has been selected as aviation student captain squadron commander, according to a dispatch from the public relations office at the Thirty-third College Training detachment (aircrew), St. Vincent college, Latrobe, Pa., where he is stationed.

Aviation Student Beamer, according to Lieut. Woodrow P. Sheridan, public relations officer, "is doing quite well" and "anxious to move on to his next phase of training. His attention to duty and eagerness to learn promises us a good flier of tomorrow."

Beamer is the husband of Mrs. Peggy Beamer, Grantsville. His brother, Henry J. Beamer, is in service in the navy and survived the sinkings of the Yorktown and the Hornet.

Fewer Taxpayers Seek Aid in Filing Returns

In an urgent appeal for life-giving substance that is saving the lives of hundreds of American soldiers and sailors, Corp. Robert L. Scatella, son of Mr. and Mrs. Angelo Scatella, 114 Independence street, said, "Keep the blood plasma coming!"

Corp. Scatella's message, broadcast on the Cecil DeMille program Tuesday evening, came from Australia where he is serving with the Red Cross chapter of the Red Cross.

The clearest indication of the decrease is the fact that personnel of the tax office were able to stop work at 5:15 o'clock Monday afternoons.

The addition of Patrick J. Creenan and John R. Uhl, deputies who have been assisting taxpayers in the communities of the county since February 9, brings to six the number of tax experts on duty during the rush period.

Names of men and women serving overseas may be added to the League's list by calling 2216 or writing to 7 Washington street.

Eileen Farrell Arrives for Her Concert Tonight

Washington County Bar Association Honors Judge Sloan

HAGERSTOWN, March 1 (AP)—Chief Judge D. Lindley Sloan, of the Fourth judicial circuit, who will reach retirement age of 70 next month, was honored today with special ceremonies sponsored by the Washington County Bar Association.

In response to addresses by Joseph D. Mish, State's Attorney Martin L. Ingram, Omer T. Taylor, D. Angle Wolfinger and John Wagaman, Judge Sloan said, "There are some rough spots in being a judge, but you have helped me carry the burden."

Hoping for a warmer reception from her audience in Fort Hill auditorium tonight than she received from the wintry weather that greeted her at Queen City station, Eileen Farrell, noted radio and concert soprano arrived in Cumberland last night.

Miss Farrell came here from New York and will sing here at 8:30 o'clock tonight under the auspices of the Cumberland Concert Association.

In response to addresses by Joseph D. Mish, State's Attorney Martin L. Ingram, Omer T. Taylor, D. Angle Wolfinger and John Wagaman, Judge Sloan said, "There are some rough spots in being a judge, but you have helped me carry the burden."

Expresses Appreciation

Creation of State Ballot Commission Urged by O'Conor

Suggests That Attorney General and Judge Sloan Be Members

ANNAPOLIS, March 1 (AP)—Creation of a state ballot commission to handle any problems in the administration of absentee voting by servicemen was recommended today by Governor O'Conor.

He said he had discussed inclusion of the commission in the state's soldier vote bill with Attorney General William C. Walsh. O'Conor said the group would include Republican and Democratic representatives and should have approximately seven members.
